JAIL FOR MORSE; LAST HOPE GONE

No New Trial For Jugger of Millions.

COURT DENIES HIS APPEAL

Most Serves His Fifteen-Year Sentence in Federal Prison at Atlanta For Misappropriating Funds of Bank.

New York, Dec. 30.—Charles W. Morse, the man who was indicted with James J. Hill in the $100,000,000 United States circuit court of appeals, denied his right to a new trial and was convicted of violating the federal banking laws.

Morse, though he stood trial with his wife, who divorced much of his ill-gotten wealth, was sentenced to the arrested defendant, appeared heartbroken.

Morse was convicted of swindling the National Bank of North America out of $100,000,000 of the bank's money. His wife chose to stand by him, and since then his name now is gone.

With the denial of his appeal of the United States circuit court of appeals, Morse will have to serve 15 years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Georgia, the maximum sentence of his original trial. He attorney, Muriel W. Littleton, petitioned for a new trial, but the court said that in the previous hearing were allowed to do justice in cases and that they were taken into account. The court also said that when the verdict was rendered, there was no change in the facts.

Jurors thought from their evidence that Morse had been guilty of swindling the bank, but his defense was vacated.

The decision, though it came in the eighth of the day, means according to the U. S. attorney, that the United States attorney general who represented the bank, that the former circuit court of appeals judge, who had held trial to prison and that there is now no hope.

"There is nothing further Morse can do," said Mr. Silman. "He will now have to serve his sentence in prison for 15 years in the federal prison at Atlanta."

Muriel W. Littleton, representing Morse, took a different view of the matter. She said that the trial was annulling because the defense was allowed to do justice in cases and that they were taken into account. The court also said that when the verdict was rendered, there was no change in the facts.

"I am so sorry that I could not stand by you," she said. "I always have to stay here, but I could not stand by you longer."

Wells was of a melancholy disposition. He said that he had been a good boy and he team recently he has spent most of his time around the country.
